1. Customer with contract type as Month-month has high risk of churn
2. Among churned customers 69% customers used the fiber optic internet service and 57% had the electronic payment mode
3. Tech tickets consisted of highest proportion among churned customers and customers using fiber optic or electronic payment method raised higher tech tickets as compared to others. Hence support services for these categories must be responsive with SLAs as low as possible